New Armory — at Last

Three Jewish

Boys I Knew

READING yesterday's news story about the completion of our $75,000 National Guard armory here — it will be used for the first time Tuesday night — I thought:

I've been in Hope for 22 years; a new armory was what they were talking about when I got here — and it's just now being realized. Back in 1920 the late Jim Henry was approached as the owner of a site the state wanted for an armory, and this was where I came in — but that particular armory never was built.

Nor were any of the various armories constructed on which many a Hope committee went to Little Rock, including two trips by this writer, Roy Anderson, and others. The last big blowup I recall was when Roy and I held a caucus in the State Military Department offices of the capital with our then State Senator James H. Fulton and one of our representatives, Royce Weisenberger — and the entire Hempstead county outfit was red hot because we had just learned that another armory promise had been flagrantly broken.

But give our town time and we get things done — 22 years for a $75,000 armory.

LIFE MAGAZINE this week publishes a detailed biography of Joseph L. Mankiewicz, 20th Century-Fox film producer who has been nominated for the Academy Award because of his new picture "All About Eve." Mankiewicz produced "The Philadelphia Story" and many other hits in the past.

I was interested in the Mankiewicz story because we were neighborhood boys together back in the old home town of Wilkes-Barre, Pa. There was the older brother, Herman; the sister, Erna, who was in my grade at school; and the kid brother Joe — genius of the family.

There was one other Jewish family in the neighborhood of Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterians and Episcopalians, and that was Ham Fisher's — Ham draws the cartoon "Joe Palooka" featured by the Arkansas Gazette. And up there was a third Jewish family, important department store operators, named Weitzenkorn — whose son Louis made a name for himself in the magazine world (he wrote the play and motion picture "Three Star Final").

Sometimes hear misguided folks talk about the acquisitiveness of the Jews, but those who have known them well, and since boyhood, will deny this blanket charge. The head of the Mankiewicz family was a teacher of foreign languages in a small Wilkes-Barre private school (Hillman Academy), and the family had little money and apparently little desire to get more of it.

Ham Fisher's father was a junk dealer who finally went broke. The Weitzenkorn family had money, but Louis rejected it and went off to New York to starve in a Greenwich Village basement until he learned how to write fiction.

McMath, Legislator Swap Criticism

Little Rock, March 10 — (AP) — Gov. Sid McMath criticized the 58th Arkansas general assembly, and a legislator criticized the governor in talks here yesterday.

McMath made an unscheduled appearance at the Arkansas-Missouri Beta club convention. He told the teen-age delegates that "I had never believed until the last minute of the last session of the 58th general assembly that it would not provide adequately for education."

Rep. Glenn Walther of Pulaski county spoke at a greater Little Rock Chamber of Commerce meeting.

He blamed McMath for the financial condition of the public schools, among other things.

Walther said that the same day McMath told the Arkansas racing commission he opposed the proposed Dixie Downs track at West Memphis "on moral grounds", the governor went to the Hot Springs track.

"Apparently he believes the races are all right for him, but not for the masses", Walther declared.

Ask Change in Cotton Formula

Forrest City, March 10 — (AP) — A resolution urging congress to figure out a "more reasonable and workable" price program on raw cotton was adopted here yesterday by some 250 East Arkansas bankers.

Delegates attending the group one meeting of the Arkansas Bankers association deplored the present price ceiling imposed by the office of price stabilization.

R. A. Porter of Blytheville was elected group chairman, succeeding W. M. Campbell, of Forrest City. E. R. Browning of Paragould was named vice-chairman. John M. Moye of Helena was elected secretary-treasurer.

Speakers included E. I. McKinley, state bank commissioner, and Shelby Ford of Springdale, president of the Arkansas Bankers association.

Senate Approves Drafting Youths 18 Years Old

Washington, March 10 — (AP) — The senate approved yesterday a permanent program for building up the nation's fighting strength through universal military training and the draft of 18-year-olds. The vote was 79 to five.

A similar measure is pending in the house armed services committee.

Members said today they hope to begin voting early next week on proposed amendments. Some house leaders predicted the measure would be ready for final house action before the Easter vacation.

The top-heavy senate approval came after weeks of hearings and arguments. Only five Republican senators opposed passage: Dirksen of Illinois, Jenner of Indiana, Langer of North Dakota, Schoeppel of Kansas and Walker of Idaho.

Support of the measure actually was stronger than the vote indicated. Four Democrats and five Republicans, unable to remain for the final balloting were announced as favoring passage.

Senator Lyndon Johnson (D-Text), who managed the universal military training and service bill through lengthy hearings, and then a week of stormy debate, had prepared an appeal for unity on the final test. But tired senators, after eight hours of debate and many rollcalls, shouted "vote, vote, vote."

Johnson received permission to put his speech in the record without delivering it. One paragraph said:

"Thousands of white crosses from two world wars and one in Korea are the most persuasive arguments I know for adopting this program — for adopting this program which will tell aggressors that we are ready."

Earlier Johnson and other supporters of the program had crushed all attempts of major revisions.

Some of the hardest fought provisions of the measure are not expected to apply immediately should they be enacted into law through house approval and signing by the President.

Lowering the present minimum draft induction age from 19 to 18 years is not expected to touch many 18 year olds for a year or more. The senate bill requires that men in the present 19 through 25 draft pool must be taken first by all local boards.

Then when 18 year olds were called, those nearest 19 would go first, with the priority moving downward by three-month jumps. The first would be boys 18 years and 9 months.

Up to 75,000 men would be deferred for college study in each of the next three years.

The universal military training provision which would apply to all physically fit 18 year olds, would become operative only after an end to present international tension permitted a cut back to six months of required military service.

Probers Trying to Clean Out Labor Crime

Washington, March 10 — (AP) — Senator Kefauver (D-Tenn.) said today that his crime investigation committee will make public records aimed at cleaning out at least part of the criminal element in the nation's liquor industry.

His statement was a sequel to testimony by southern tax officials yesterday that dry areas of their states are being flooded with tax-free whiskey from two wholesale liquor houses in Cairo, Ill., doing a $20,000,000 business annually.

Kefauver said that many former bootleggers and rum runners were taken into the wholesale liquor business after the repeal of prohibition but that distillers have shown a general indifference to wedding out who's a seller with criminal records.

Such an attitude gives persons favoring a return to prohibition "a strong argument," he said.

Kefauver said that before the crime investigating committee he heads winds up its work on March 31 it will make public all the information it has gathered linking persons in the liquor industry to criminal activities.

Dwight Avis, assistant deputy commissioner of the internal revenue bureau, said his agency will make use of the information to deny federal wholesale liquor permits to applicants with criminal records.

Avis, who has charge of the alcohol tax unit's enforcement activities, said legislation now in the mill is needed to make the screening job fully effective.

The measure would require wholesale liquor dealers to get their federal permits renewed annually. As it is, the permits continue indefinitely unless they are revoked — a process likely to involve drawn-out court proceedings.

Morrison May Seek to Patch Differences

London, March 10 — (AP) — Veteran Laborite Herbert Morrison took over today as Britain's foreign secretary, determined — his associates say — to launch new and undisclosed peace efforts.

The shrewd, 63-year-old London born politician replaced ailing, weary Ernest Bevin who found the post too onerous after five years and seven months.

Whitehall indicated there would be no change in British foreign policy, but there was general belief in government circles that Britain will take different approach to East-West problems, because of the difference in the personalities of Morrison and Bevin.

Those who know both men said Morrison is much more patient than Bevin and far less dominating.

Morrison takes up his new duties with little experience in foreign affairs. He has never committed himself fully on foreign policy, although he did express his determination of Communists in Britain during the last war.

On the other hand, Morrison has a vast store of government experience, adaptability and an agile political brain which made him a leading Socialist party strategist.

Morrison will remain as deputy prime minister and their apparent to Attlee. But he will hand his majority leadership in the house of commons over to Home Secretary James Chuter Ede.

His retirement from that leadership immediately brought speculation in the house of commons whether labor's left bloc, of which Labor Minister Aneur Bevan is one of the chiefs, might gain the party ascendancy for which it has striven over the past five years.

Morrison's strategy has been largely instrumental in keeping the left bloc from gaining the upper hand.

Morrison is known as a middle of the road man who always was able to adapt himself to the strong current within the Labor party.

The left bloc, which five years ago favored a closer approach to Russia and later endorsed a "middle road" for Britain between the United States and the Soviet union, opposed both Bevin and the foreign policy which he formulated.

Only exception: If it's raining or sleeting, the man may take cover under one of the little canopies at each end of the walk.

How do the boys like this strange job? Find, said Sgt. Casper J. Morelli of Olyphant, Pa. Morelli has been on the honor guard for eight years. The last six years he's been head man.

The unknown soldier was buried in 1921. Oddly, in view of the constancy of the guard now, in the early days there was no guard at all. It then was put on a part-time basis and, since July 1, 1937, it has been an around-the-clock schedule.

Morelli says the first thing he looks for in choosing a man is neatness. Next he wants a general good appearance. "A good all-around soldier does best," he says.

A neat, good appearing, soldierly man himself, Morelli never walks guard, but he does have a special chore.

"I'm the wreath bearer," he said, and then explained that when the President or some other dignitary comes out to put a wreath on the unknown soldier's tomb, Morelli is the man who hands it to him.

Guards on duty aren't permitted to talk to tourists, except to answer the question asked most often: "May I take pictures?" the answer: "Yes."

Servicemen Who Guard Tomb of the Unknown Soldier Consider the Job an Honor

By ARTHUR EDSON (For Hal Boyle)

Washington, March 10 — (AP) — Fifteen men stationed at nearby Fort Myer, Va., have what must be the most unusual job in the army. Every minute, day and night, they guard the tomb of the unknown soldier.

In sizzling or freezing weather, one of these men paces back and forth in front of the simple but impressive tomb in Arlington National cemetery, across the Potomac river from Washington.

Only exception: If it's raining or sleeting, the man may take cover under one of the little canopies at each end of the walk.

Career Day to Be Held at High School

On Friday, April 6, Hope High School will have a Career Day at which time representatives from various occupations will talk to groups interested in their respective vocations.

Some of the prominent out-of-town guests will be R. E. Bibby, Sales Manager, American Airlines, Little Rock; Carroll McGaughey, Managing Editor, Arkansas Gazette; A. L. Bell, Supervisor, Physical Restoration, Vocational Rehabilitation Division; Miss Amy Jean Greene, Henderson State Teachers College, Arkadelphia; W. W. McFarlin, Special Agent F. B. I., Little Rock; and Miss Hazel Dabney, Elementary Supervisor, Pine Bluff Public Schools.

Among local participants are John Wilson, Jr.; Rev. J. M. Hamilton; Cecil Little, Oliver Adams; Dr. Walter Sims; and Mrs. George Wright.

In the library most colleges in Arkansas will have exhibits about their school set up. During the day students who plan to attend college can talk to these representatives.

This event is under the supervision of the Guidance program, Horace Hubbard, director.

Ministers Hope to Make Progress

Paris, March 10 — (AP) — Western delegates go into their sixth session with Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko today, still hopeful they can frame a Big Four agenda cleared of Soviet bobby traps.

The deputies of the United States, Britain, France and Russia have been meeting all week to try to reach agreement on a list of topics the Big Four foreign ministers can discuss at a later meeting.

American Ambassador-At-Large Philip C. Jessup maintains the Russian suggestions for an agenda are larded with items of "have-you-stopped-bentling-your-wife" variety. He and the other Western delegates charge Gromyko's suggested wording prejudices the issues. Gromyko maintains this is not so.

The three Western deputies went into a two and a half hour huddle last night at the French foreign ministry, following the regular four-power session. When they broke up just before midnight, they refused to tell reporters what they had been discussing.

Some observers thought the subject possibly was West Germany's demand to be heard before any decisions are taken on Germany.

All four delegates seem agreed on some points, according to earlier statements by Jessup and British Delegate Ernest Davies.

Federal Jury to Peek at RFC Findings

Washington, March 10 — (AP) — Some developments in the sensational reconstruction finance corporation reorganization inquiry are looked for review before a federal grand jury.

Object: To seek out possible law violations.

The justice department announced last night that the grand jury will begin its work here Monday. The announcement came just one day after the investigating senate banking subcommittee requested such action.

Chairman Fulbright (D-Ark) had declared that some of the testimony given the committee was riddled with perjury, and that the probe may have uncovered evidence of tax evasion and other law violations.

Meanwhile, the committee moved on a new tack to induce White House Aide Donald Dawson to step forward as a voluntary witness to answer under oath its accusations against him. Dawson has been described in a committee report as one of a group which the committee contends exerted improper pressures on the RFC in the making of big government loans.

Following Dawson's refusal to comment on the accusations, the committee disclosed yesterday it had written him a letter asking that he come in and be heard. Fulbright said the letter dated Feb. 24, had not been acknowledged.

The senator quoted the letter as saying that the group "does not feel that it should subpoena your presence" but "we stand ready to cooperate with you in the presentation of your views to the subcommittee and in a thorough development of the facts about your relations with the RFC."

The committee concedes there is a question of its authority to subpoena a White House aide. Announcement of the invitation appeared to be a bid for public support of the committee's efforts to get Dawson to testify.

Johnston Is Making Little Headway

Washington, March 10 — (AP) — Ernie Johnston's effort to make a compromise peace in the wage control controversy ran into reportedly adamant opposition today from organized labor.

The economic stabilization administrator, in week-long conferences behind closed doors, was understood to be pressing labor and industry to accept a remodeled wage stabilization board with limited power to settle labor disputes.

Some industry figures were said to lean to such a solution providing the board handled disputes arising only from wages and other "economic issues." But reporters got this unofficial word from both AFL and CIO sources:

"That isn't good enough."

The board originally set up with three members each from industry, labor and the public, remained crippled by labor's refusal to let union representatives serve. And industry spokesmen have indicated they will refuse to serve if the board is given unlimited jurisdiction to settle disputes.

Officials were discouraged, meantime, by a new wholesale price index which hit a new all-time high. Wholesale prices rose three-tenths of one per cent in the week ended March 6, to a level 20.2 per cent over a year ago and 17 per cent above last June.

This dimmed hopes that the price advance had broken. In the two previous weeks the index paused and dipped slightly. In the new report by the bureau of labor statistics the wholesale index stood at 183.5 — meaning that prices were 83.5 per cent above the base year, 1926.

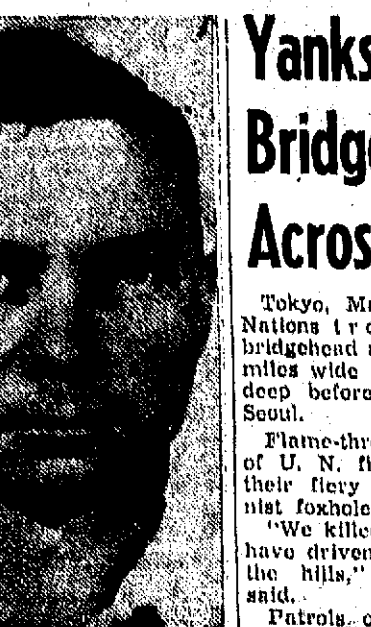

Girl Scouts of America Start 39th Year Monday

Monday, March 12, the Girl Scouts of America organization will be 39 years old and the 110 members in Hope will take part in the observance.

This nationwide organization will be recognized on two Mutual Radio broadcasts — Sunday at 8:30 on the Nick Carter show and Monday at 5 p. m. on the Mark Trail broadcast.

Since its organization, 4 Hope Brownie troops and 9 scout troops have grown to 110 members. At the present time the girls are in need of leaders. Any local women wishing to help should contact Mrs. Harry Shuler.

All local members and leaders will hold an all-day camp at Park the day after tomorrow.

Troops to Europe Still Unsettled

Washington, March 10 — (AP) — The troops-for-Europe controversy, still unsettled in the senate, spread today to the house.

With reported unanimous backing, the house Republican policy committee yesterday adopted a resolution tying the Troop issue to a bill extending the toughening of the draft law.

The committee proposes to amend the draft law by providing that "no troops shall be committed to the European area as proposed under the Atlantic pact arrangement until the necessary authorization for such commitment is approved by both bodies of the congress."

The resolution asserted the Republicans' conviction that congress, and not the President alone, has the power to decide whether American ground forces shall be sent to Europe. By congress, the GOP leaders made clear, they mean the house of representatives and the senate, not the senate alone.

Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts told newsmen there is a "good chance" that the amendment would be accepted by the house armed services committee when it sends a draft bill to the house floor in the next few weeks. The amendment was co-sponsored by Representatives Hall-ack (R-Ind) and Amden (R-Ill.), the latter a member of the armed services committee.

Chairman Vinson (D-Ga) of the armed services committee wouldn't risk a prediction about what his group would do. But Speaker Sam Rayburn doubted that the house would back up the Republican proposal.

"I don't think the house of representatives will go that far," Rayburn told newsmen.

He pointed out that the proposal of the house Republicans goes much further than do two resolutions to be debated next week by the senate. The senate measures would not have the binding effect of a law, since one of them is a simple resolution requiring only senate approval and the other is a concurrent resolution requiring approval by both chambers but merely expressing a sentiment and not prescribing a law.

'Motor Manners' Good Assurance of Safety

"Courtesy in an automobile is always one's best assurance of safety."

The above statement was made today by Mrs. David Griffin, president of the Hope Business and Professional Women's Club as she began the necessary preparation for the local club to have a part in the observance of "Motor Manners" during the month of March.

This theme has been adopted for the month by the Arkansas Safety Council for emphasis and the Arkansas Federation, as a cooperating organization, is helping call the attention of the general public to their driving manners.

"It shall be the objective of the Business and Professional Women's Club this month to call attention to some of the most objectionable driving customs and also to help prevent accidents," Mrs. Griffin continued.

"Primitive, irresponsible, discourteous and impatient behavior behind the wheel of an automobile has no place in society. Upon close analysis of almost all our traffic laws one realizes that they are simply safe driving and walking rules. Of course, there is reason enough for every person to observe them."

All local members and leaders will hold an all-day camp at Park the day after tomorrow.

Yanks Widen Bridgehead Across the Han

Tokyo, March 10 — (AP) — United Nations troops widened the bridgehead across the Han river in miles wide and nearly six miles deep before noon today east of Seoul.

Flame-throwing tanks crunched of U. N. fighting units and their fiery streams into Communist foxholes.

"We killed a batch of them. We have driven many more back into the hills," one frontline officer said.

Patrols of the 36th and 1st Wollhound regiments ranged to the Seoul plains into rugged hills to the north.

The Communists fought with automatic weapons and mortar fire.

Intelligence officers of the (Tropic Lightning) division said the United Nations' artillery bombardment and infantry advance across the Han apparently broken the back of the Communists' first defense line north of the river.

They said the Reds probably pulled back to defend the narrow road leading west to Seoul. The about five miles north of the present line.

Skies were gray but the weather was mild as the doughboys advanced and methodically pushed the northward advance. They seized every yard of ground.

When the Reds showed signs of the Allied units called for artillery barrages. Then they threw their own firepower into the Chinese positions and finally climbed the hills to capture or kill any who stood their ground.

"The more than 300 prisoners were collected already would amount up one of their battalions," a floor said.

Further west, U. S. First Army Division troops pushed razorback ridges east and west of Tongdong. They were fighting up the road to the supply center of Hongkong.

Charles D. Palmer, said the armyman have forced the Reds abandon their best positions.

Legislature Okays Three Changes

Little Rock, March 10 — (AP) — Little Rock's change of name to Arkansas senate put the 58th general assembly on record as approving three proposed changes to the state constitution.

On adjournment day (Friday), the senate approved a joint resolution No. 3 and a plebiscite action on three proposed constitutional amendments. The legislature is authorized to approve the proposals will be submitted to the people in the 1952 general election.

They are:

1. A plan for reorganization of the Arkansas highway commission. The proposal (SJR) calls for a five-member commission to be appointed by the governor.

The commission would be composed of members to be named by the governor instead of present terms. This would prohibit one governor from controlling the commission.

2. A proposal to permit levy a one mill tax to plant sites for prospective prices (HJR9).

3. A proposal to permit having a population below 100,000 elect county clerks (HJR9).

No constitutional amendments were suggested by the 58th assembly.

Army Still Has a Short Term Enlistment

Young men from this still choose to enlist when the U. S. Army for a year, the months, the short term, and the U. S. Air Force today.

To be eligible for this enlistment applicants must be between the ages of 18 and 21, have not served for more than one year in any of the armed services, and have no criminal record.

This authority may be exercised by the military service departments, the Army, Navy, and Air Force, and the Coast Guard.

Under the new law, a young man who enlists for a short term enlistment will be able to serve for a period of one year, or less, and then reenlist for a longer period.

Lumberman Is Exonerated
 Morrilton, March 9 — (AP) — A 52-year-old Clinton, Ark., lumber-dealer has been exonerated in the highway death of a Center Ridge child.
 A circuit court jury has cleared
 Joe Johnson of any guilt in the death of Betty Sue Scroggin, 10, last June 24. He had been charged with involuntary manslaughter, leaving the scene of an accident and driving his truck under the influence of alcohol. The latter two charges were dismissed.
 Johnson denied that he knew that his truck had struck the child.

Policeman Back In The Pink Again
 — Says He's The "Kilroy of Old"

HADACOL Relieves Lack of Energy When Due to a Lack of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Niacin and Iron

It takes a good man, a man that's really up and at 'em, to help keep an eye on one of the world's largest office buildings. So when Jimmy Kilroy, 1153 Belden Ave., Chicago, Ill., found himself below par... he turned to today's great HADACOL. He'd heard how this wonderful formula corrected the real cause of such troubles when due to a lack of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Niacin and Iron. As a result, he's back in shape again, loaded with energy and enthusiasm.

Here's what Mr. Kilroy has to say. "A few lines to tell you the great things your HADACOL has done for me. As a prize fighter and now as policeman assigned to one of the world's largest office buildings, I have always had to be in the best of shape. A month ago I found I was in a rundown condition, lacking energy, always tired and sluggish. And a young man one day said at one time he was the same. Advised me to buy a bottle of HADACOL, which I did. After two bottles, started feeling like myself and from there on I got new energy. Have been working in the gym 1 hour daily and everyone tells me how great I look and act. It really is a great product and I will always keep taking it. I feel like the Kilroy of old."

There's just no doubting an honest, sincere statement like that. Surely there is no need to be a burden to yourself, to your friends, or to your family, if you are suffering from such troubles due to a lack of Vitamins B₁, B₂, Niacin and Iron. HADACOL supplies more than the minimum daily require-ments of these elements plus help-ful quantities of Phosphorus and Calcium. It really goes to work to build good red blood, better hemo-globin, (when Iron is needed) to make sure that the precious Vita-mins and Minerals are sped to every part of the body, to every body organ. HADACOL is quickly absorbed in your system because its important elements are already dissolved in a special liquid form that's easy to take.

Compromise on Troop Issue Seen
 Washington, March 9 — (AP) — Opposing factions of the Republi-can party divide honors today in a senate compromise over the troops-to-Europe issue.

The Taft-Wheary wing of the party won something of a victory when two senate committees yes-terday okayed resolutions to put congress on record as saying its approval should be obtained for any future policy "requiring the assignment of American troops" to the North Atlantic defense army.

The Dewey-Stassen faction got its share of laurels in wording which would have congress say it is "necessary for the United States to station abroad such units of our armed forces as may be neces-sary and appropriate to contrib-ute our fair share of the forces needed for the joint defense of the North Atlantic area."

Taft, who heads the senate GOP policy committee, and senator Wherry of Nebraska, the party's floor leader, could chalk up some-thing of a victory in the adoption of the Smith amendment.

Washington, March 9 — (AP) — A new controversy flared today and threatened to snarl up an attempt by senators to clarify two res-olutions approving the sending of U. S. troops to Europe.

Senator J. Alexander Smith (R-I) called on the senate foreign relations and armed services com-mittees to okay changes in meas-ures most members thought they had approved finally by a 23 to 9 vote yesterday. No meeting of the committees to consider his request was scheduled.

Smith said he wants to make it certain that one provision of the resolutions approves the dispatch of four American divisions to join the four in Germany already as-signed to the Western Europe de-fense force.

He said he wants to revise an- other section to make it clear con-gress thinks any future American additions to that force ought to be approved by it in advance.

Senators George (D-Ga) and Hickenlooper (R-Iowa) said they want to look over these proposed changes before they agree.

George labelled as "a botch and and wholly unsatisfactory" identi-cal senate and two-house res-olutions approved by the committees yesterday. "These set out that it is "necessary" for the United States to contribute its "fair share" of ground forces to the army headed by Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Smith had succeeded in attach-ing an amendment to put con-gress on record as saying it that "congressional approval should be obtained of any policy requiring
